Production and supply chain are secured at HOFFMANN MINERAL - despite Corona

We have also used the last few days and weeks intensively to take precautionary measures for our employees and our company. The health of everyone is at the center of our attention. We maintain the function of all departments through home office solutions and flexible working hours and the division of teams. Our availability and ability to deliver is therefore ensured even in these challenging times.

And another piece of positive news: HOFFMANN MINERAL has a strong worldwide network that enables us to deliver reliably even in times of crisis. We regularly check our supply chains in order to identify problems or hurdles in good time and initiate appropriate measures. At the moment there are no bottlenecks in our product portfolio.

Of course, nothing is predictable in the current situation and we are bound by the federal and state regulations of the authorities like any other company. But be assured: We are doing everything to ensure that we can continue to supply the world with Neuburg Siliceous Earth products.

Kindest regards

HOFFMANN MINERAL GmbH
